FUNERAL OF GEN. SHERMAN. On Wednesday, February 18th, the remains of Gen. Sherman were started on their long journey from the General's late home in New York to the Cemetery at St. Louis. The casket was carried on a gun-carriage from the house on Seventy-first street to the Pennsylvania railroad depot. It was followed by the President and Vice President., members of the Cabinet, ex-Presidents, committees from the Senate and House of Representatives, Governors, Army and Navy officers, and members of the National Guard and Grand Army to the number of twenty thousand. A special train bore the remains and friends of the dead General from Jersey City to St. Louis. At all points through New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois, it was received with marks of respect and sorrow. Troops were drawn up at every station; cannon were fired, bells were tolled, and the emblems of mourning were everywhere displayed. At Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Columbus, and Indianapolis, especially impressive exercises were beld as the train stopped in the different depots. Each city, each town, each country station, even the the country crossroads were alive with people anxious to catch a glimpse of the casket or train. The remains reached St. Louis Saturday morning, and the business of the city was suspended during the day. The funeral was held with military honors, under the care of the soldiery. Troops from various States participated. A long and imposing pageant followed the body to the Cemetery, when after the interment a salute was fired, and the grave closed on the mortal part of the last of the war's

It is believed by experienced business men that in less than two years reciprocity will open a market for over $50,000,000 of our products annually. The trade will be entirely in noncompeting products. THE News and Courier, a thoroughly representative Bourbon sheet published at Charleston, S. C., devoted several columns last week to a bitter attack upon Gen. Sherman, thus demonstrating beautifully that there are no war feelings rankling in the bosoms of the unregenerated confeds.

An earnest and feeling prayer from the pastor, completed the dedication. The choir rendered the anthem "Come thou fount of every blessing," in a happy manner,

The following clergymen then responded to the call of Dr. Alexander with fiveminute addresses: Drs. Cunningham and Cook, of Wheeling; Rev. Stephens, of New York; Rev. Gailey, of Morristown; Rev. Alexander, of Rockhill; Rev. Barr, of Bellaire; Rev. Campbell, of Martin's Ferry: Dr. Reed, of Barnesville: Rev. Hackett, of Crabapple; Dr. Hingeley and Dr. Balph, of St. Clairsville. All spoke in fitting terms of the building, congratulated pastor and people, and urged the importance of making lit in truth the place of the Almighty. Dr. Cunningham, of Wheeling, and Dr. Balph, of this place, paid deserved tributes to the unflagging zeal and faithfulness of Dr. Alexander in bringing about the erection of the new structure, and getting it paid for.

After the singing of hymn 575, "I love thy kingdom, Lord," the congregation was dismissed with a benediction from Dr. Hingeley.

The services had lasted from II until 2:30 o'clock without intermission, and the large audience was hungry. The ladies of the church had prepared in the Sabbath school room a delicious lunch, to which everyone was invited. Many accepted the invitation, and much of the afternoon was spent in convivial and social cheer. The services throughout were of a most satisfactory character. The weather was pleasant, enabling a vast audience to be present. The attendance of clergy form surrounding towns was large. The music was well rendered by a choir consisting of Mrs. Blair, Mrs. Lucas, the Misses Nellie and Lida Anderson, Miss Nannie Grove, Messrs. R. J. Riley, E. G. Amos, F. B. Archer, and Howard Kirk, with Miss Blanche Grove, organist.

The building was clean and inviting, and the pulpit was handsomely decorated with green foliaged and blooming plants. Pastor, people and community are to be congratulated on the happy termination of the efforts put forth in building this edifice, and every resident of the town and vicinity may feel a just pride in it. The day's exercises were concluded by
